

The Rules

Lyrics by Sherrilynn Taylor

Copyright © 2008 by Sherrilynn Taylor

Who taught me the law of gravity?
Who told me that I couldn't fly?
Who said oxygen's a necessity?
Who remind me the limit's the sky?

Someone said pain and misery
Are the acceptable price of living life
Someone told me scars linger and
The risk of cancer's like rolling the dice

What would happen to the world we know
If we'd just erase the word "No"
'Cause someone said it
Doesn't make it true
You're a fool if you don't
Question the rules

Who said heaven's a place not a state of mind?
A place you can't go while you're alive
A place for those of the same kind
A place only to hope to see when you die

Who said war's a form of killing
That's socially permissible?
Who said memory is how you torture
Yourself with all that's forgettable?

Too afraid to let go of all
You've been taught is reliable
When will we learn everything's
Totally unlearnable?

What would happen to the world we know
If we'd just erase the word "No"
'Cause someone said it
Doesn't make it true
You're a fool if you don't
Question the rules

How can we change the world we know
If we never try to grow?